

CAPITAL III

PEDIGREE

Capital III is a son of the highly regarded jumping sire, Cor de la Bryère. Just as important is his dam's line, which is known to produce tractability. This combination of athleticism along with ease of training and handling should be what breeders strive for.

PERFORMANCE

At 20 years of age, Capital III is a former grand prix jumper. With his jumping style & disposition, he has also earned many top ribbons in the hunter divisions, formerly competing in the Regular Working division. Currently, we still show him, but more for fun at this stage of his life. He still gets a lot of attention ringside, and is docile enough for an amateur to show and to use in lessons.

PROGENY

Capital III produced several successful jumper offspring when he was standing in Europe. While lightly bred in this country, those that own his offspring are very enthusiastic about their horses' jumping ability and their easy dispositions.
